Being Safe, During Breaks

Since this is a short week, this week’s blog isn’t a long one; but instead it’s a safety one. During this week, the first elongated break that you have had so far since being at Western is happening, Fall Break. Breaks can be a lot of fun, but they also can be very dangerous. Whether you’re going home and spending it with your family or taking a road trip with your new friends that you have made a WCU, make smart decisions and be safe. Take this time to relax and de-stress, catch up on school work, catch up with friends, or take a trip, but no matter what you end of deciding to do, I hope all of you have safe and fun time!

See you when you get back!!!

My Best,
Scott Lundgren
Graduate Assistant for First Year Experiences