

HIGHER EDUCATION STUDENT AFFAIRS

M.ED. FACT SHEET

What We Do (Vision):

Provide students with comprehensive knowledge and experiences with which to pursue professional employment within an institution of higher education and/or a doctoral degree in Higher Education/Student Affairs.

Our Mission:

The M.Ed. in Higher Education Student Affairs (HESA) has a strong focus on developing practitioner-scholars by integrating academic coursework and theoretical constructs with supervised professional experience. Our goal is to prepare learners to be competent student development specialists in all areas of university life and to cultivate practitioners who are committed to the growth and development of all students. In order to do this, we are dedicated to facilitating learning environments where students engage in acute dialogue, critically analyze scholarly content, and further develop their own identity.

What Makes Our Program Different?

WCU's HESA Graduate Program is student-centered. Just as we teach the importance of holistic student development to aspiring student affairs professionals, we practice what we teach by facilitating meaningful classroom experiences and engaging out-of-classroom professional experiences (Internships and Graduate Assistantships).

We are an intentionally small program (cohort-based) designed to:

- Maximize faculty-student interaction
- Foster significant scholarly learning experiences for students
- Offer guaranteed paid Graduate Assistantships (professional experience) to all qualified, full-time students.

Curriculum

The M.Ed. in Higher Education Student Affairs requires 39 credit hours of graduate study. Full time students complete the program in two academic years including a summer internship (Fall semester start only). Students complete a common core of courses that integrate theoretical constructs and applied practitioner experiences.
