

Academic Regalia for Doctoral Candidates

The candidates must wear a black doctoral gown and have the WCU hood. They can decide on Tam or Mortarboard and can have the gold braid if they choose to pay for it.

Candidates should be aware that there will be differences in what candidates wear if people choose to purchase more (gold braid/gold bullion tassle). These differences (beyond the black doctoral gown and WCU hood) are a function of an individual's need/desire to have more elaborate markings (e.g. someone who is a superintendent or community college administrator may need to have gold braid.) Rental regalia will be black gown, WCU hood, and mortar board with silk gold tassle.
