"I really like the small class sizes at Western. It's not such a culture shock after high school, and I learn better one-on-one."

Major—Elementary
Education

Elizabeth was a drum major in high school, and it was her interest in the band that brought her to Western and the university's renowned, 300-member Pride of the Mountains Marching Band. She switched her major from physical education to elementary education and will add a minor in dance as she works toward a career as a teacher. She also is keeping open the option of opening her own dance studio.

In addition to her studies, Elizabeth earned a place on Western's dance team, serves as a resident assistant, enjoys playing rugby, and works part time on campus.
