Preparing for Your Advising for Registration Meeting

Before you are permitted to register for classes for the upcoming semester you are required to meet with your primary advisor to review your academic progress and approve a proposed schedule of classes. The steps listed below will help you prepare for that meeting. Please take some time to complete this worksheet and bring it with you to your appointment.

- Run a copy of your degree evaluation. The degree evaluation is a great tool to help you determine where you are in your progress towards a degree. It will show you how the courses you have taken and are registered for fit into requirements for graduation, Liberal Studies and your major if you have chosen one. You can even run a "what if" evaluation for any major you may be considering. Directions for running an evaluation are on the back of this worksheet.

- Check the online catalog for course description information about Liberal Studies requirements and courses for your major or any major you are considering. Generally, as a freshman you can take courses numbered in the 100's. Checking the course descriptions in the catalog will not only give you information about the course content but will also list any prerequisites you may need to take before you can register for a course or other restrictions that may apply. Directions for finding course information are on the back of this worksheet.

- Prepare a list of courses you would like to take in the upcoming semester and bring the list to your appointment. Using the information you collected from your degree evaluation and the online catalog list the courses you feel you should take next semester along with alternates in case any of your preferences are not available.

Courses for next semester:

(Example)  HIST 141 Turning Points in US History  Alternate  PAR 146 Western Religious Traditions

1. ____________________________  Alternate __________________________
2. ____________________________  Alternate __________________________
3. ____________________________  Alternate __________________________
4. ____________________________  Alternate __________________________
5. ____________________________  Alternate __________________________
6. ____________________________  Alternate __________________________
7. ____________________________  Alternate __________________________

List anything you want to discuss with your advisor about your degree evaluation, requirements or academic progress.

7. Voila! You should now see your What-if analysis. Courses you still need to satisfy will appear with a red No next to them.

To find Liberal Studies requirements, degree information and course descriptions in the online catalog go to http://catalog.wcu.edu.
1. For Liberal Studies requirements
   - Click on "Liberal Studies".
   - Scroll down to “Requirements” and click on "Liberal Studies Program Requirements".
2. For degree information for a particular major
   - Click on "Undergraduate Programs".
   - Click on your major (or minor if applicable). This will provide you with an outline of your degree requirements. Under “Additional requirements” you will find a link to your department's web site.
3. For course descriptions
   - Click on "Course Information" and use the filters to assist you search.

If you have declared a major, you have been assigned a faculty advisor and you should set up your appointment with him or her instead of your professional advisor. You can contact your faculty advisor by email or in person to set up an appointment time.

If you have decided to change your major or have not declared a major, you will meet with your professional advisor. If your advisor is in the Advising Center, Honors College, Student Support Services or TRACS office, you can make an appointment online. Instructions can be found at advising.wcu.edu by clicking on "Make an Appointment". If you are still unsure who your advisor is or need assistance scheduling an appointment, just call the Advising Center at 828-227-7753 for help.
