Permission to Publish Student Art in

Masterpeace: An Online Art and Wellness Magazine

The counseling program at Western Carolina University is seeking K-12 student art to publish in Masterpeace: An Online Art and Wellness Magazine. The purpose of this magazine is to create a fun and engaging product that (a) celebrates local student art, (b) provides mental health and wellness education, (c) destigmatizes mental health issues (d) provides steps needed to achieve students’ full potential, and (e) increases conversation among parents, students, faculty and community members about the importance of seeking help when needed.

We are seeking electronic submissions of the following from local K-12 public school students: paintings, drawings, pottery, sculpture, poems, and short stories (1,500 word max, submitted as Word documents). Electronic submissions of artwork can be saved as jpg, png, or tiff files and emailed to Dr. Russ Curtis, publisher, at Curtis@wcu.edu. All submitted work must be accompanied with this form signed and dated by the student’s parent or guardian. Students may submit up to 3 pieces of artwork, 3 poems, and 1 short story. All work must be submitted by March 2, 2020. Students will be notified of publication decisions by April 1, 2020. If permitted, submitted artwork will be posted to our Instagram page, @masterpeace.artmag and may be considered for publication in future issues. Below, please circle “yes” or “no” for each item and then sign at the bottom.

Yes No I give permission to post my student’s work to Instagram: @masterpeace.artmag

Yes No I give Masterpeace permission to review and potentially publish my student’s art, poem, or short story.

Yes No I give Masterpeace permission to include my student’s name in the publication and on social media.

If you should have any questions please contact Dr. Russ Curtis at Curtis@wcu.edu.
