Pre-Physical Therapy

In order to become an physical therapist, you must:

- complete a bachelor's degree (in any major) WCU Undergraduate Major Options
- take the appropriate prerequisite coursework PTCAS Prerequisite Information
- take the Graduate Record Examination (GRE) Examprep.wcu.edu
- hands-on clinical / job shadowing experience required for most DPT Observation Hours Information
- apply through PTCAS.org, some colleges may require additional applications PTCAS.org
- complete a Doctor of Physical Therapy degree (DPT) from an accredited PT program List of programs
- complete a series of supervised clinical internships in a variety of settings
- pass the National PT Examination (NPTE) and/or applicable jurisprudence examination

What should I major in?

While there is no prescribed major for admission into a physical therapy program, it is imperative that students complete all required courses for admission. PT programs vary significantly in their requirements, and it is important for you to learn what coursework the schools that interest you want. Students should choose their major according to their strengths, interests and alternative career choices. The Physical Therapist Centralized Application Services (PTCAS.org) is used by the majority of PT schools but individual schools may also require a separate application to their institution as well.

Minimally, a student should complete these courses at WCU for entrance into many physical therapy programs:
