BUDGET REDUCTION PLAN

Financial Aid salaries, training, and operations are covered by state funding. Any budget reduction could result in a staffing, professional development, and/or operating cost reallocation or reduction.

Financial Aid tries to provide staff with professional development opportunities for training and compliance. These efforts could be scaled back or prioritized to accommodate funding while balancing need-to-know information. Staff that participate in professional development opportunities would then provide training to other staff members.

Operating cost reductions possibilities may include the reduction in printing and postage costs for financial aid mailings and using email instead.

Financial Aid currently utilizes a 3-year replacement cycle on computers. In the event of a reduction, Financial Aid would consider a 4-year replacement cycle.
